

UNICÜS

The magazine for earthbound extraterrestrials.

U.S.O.s: UNIDENTIFIED SUBMERSIBLE OBJECTS

GAMMA RAYS, CONSCIOUSNESS & THE UNIVERSE

INSPIRATION & REINCARNATION

INTERPLANETARY POLITICS

WIRELESS WORLD

TERRORIST TALK

ZETA DATA

UNICUS

CIRCLE OF CONTENTS

A
L
S
O

LETTERS TO UNICUS
 COSMIC NEWS & VIEWS
 BOOK & VIDEO REVIEWS
 ANCIENT ARCHETYPES For New World Guidance®
 UNITY IN ACTION Classified Section

4
30
34
38
39

LETTER FROM THE PUBLISHER

Dear Friends,

Lately, there have been many changes occurring in my life. However, I can recall a time when I thought my life was complete, uncomplicated and manageable. But it was as if the universe declared, "now it is time to move on, time to grow and evolve to another level." Suddenly, I was presented with a whole new set of challenges. My initial instinct was to reject the opportunity and come up with a list of excuses why it was not a good idea to change, but the truth is that with every potential for growth there comes the possibility for failure. Nobody wants to fail. It makes us feel uncomfortable. However, it's only when we are able to step out of our comfort zone and explore the unknown, that we are able to access our greatest potential for growth.

Each of us are responsible for creating the precise circumstances or blueprints which act as the foundation for our lives. Even though we have the freedom of choice, sometimes we can irrevocably alter our destiny by not embracing a new horizon. When we resist growth, we create uncomfortable situations to serve as a catalyst to force us to change. The times when I've accomplished the most came as a result of finding a way to step beyond a seemingly immobilizing obstacle.

As the saying goes, "it's always darkest before the dawn." So whenever things look bleak, remember there's something really wonderful waiting just around the corner. Δ

May all your encounters be pleasant,

Irene Y.L. Chen

Irene Y.L. Chen, Publisher

LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

Dear Friends,

Earth is my home. It is awe inspiring, and very beautiful. After traveling to many areas of the globe, visiting 57 countries and seeing many of the world's great wonders, I noticed that in all regions of the Earth, there are certain locations that are designated as holy, sacred or more powerful than others. However, the entire planet is part of a single, larger creation, united with a common purpose - to sustain life on various levels. All life on Earth is dwelling under the same star-studded roof. What could be more sacred?

The Milky Way is my neighborhood. It's a big place to explore, and I'm usually flying interstellar standby, but I've been to some sacred sites right here in our own backyard. The temples of Mars are incredibly beautiful at sunrise and the enormous Stonehenges on the moons of Saturn are absolutely spectacular. Unfortunately, there were no ET tour guides available at those sites. However, as future generations of earthlings continue to venture further out into space, we will begin to learn how to share our home planet and our galactic neighborhood with a diverse range of other intelligent life forms. It will probably create a cultural conflict during the first few confirmed contacts because human nature is still based primarily on survival instincts. But as we learn how to find the delicate balance between perceiving ETs as either aliens or as allies, when we can see beyond these extremes, from that point forward all life in the galaxy will benefit greatly.

The Universe is my Temple. It is where I experience and learn from life. As we mature, it is our duty to become conscientious caretakers of our global environment and get along with our neighbors and help care for our neighborhoods. The future is full of new opportunities. As we look to the promise of future generations, who will inherit this home world, we must teach them by example to appreciate the importance of all life everywhere and the value of balance. We all live here together, we should make the best of it. The Earth is our home, and it is beautiful. Δ

Looking Forward,

Robert M. Stanley

Robert M. Stanley, Editor

ABOUT THE COVER

The lost civilization of Atlantis, long the subject of myth and conjectures, is depicted in this painting. Lost, but not forgotten, the ancient ruins lie hidden deep beneath the sparkling blue waters of the Atlantic Ocean. Strange and wonderful gatherings occur in a specific area where one of the Atlantean power towers still oscillates with the electromagnetic flux fields of the planet. This advanced technology produced virtually free energy for this once great civilization, where interplanetary travel was common knowledge, and the Atlanteans lived a seemingly heavenly existence both above and below the water. "Guardians of Atlantis" copyright 1995, by Douglas Taylor.

Mr. MOE

UNICUS
(Lat. unique, alone in its kind.)

Publisher
Creative Director
IRENE Y.L. CHEN

Managing Editor
Investigative Reporter
ROBERT M. STANLEY

Assistant Editor
CAMILLE SZALANKIEWICZ

Contributors

- ROLAND BEANUM
- SEAN CASTEEL
- ROBERT DOORNICK
- KIKUO HAYASHI
- SHEILAA HITE
- BOCZOR IOSIF
- JON ST. JOHN
- JOE SUMRALL
- DOUGLAS TAYLOR
- JACQUELINE WELLES
- JERRY WILLS
- DOUG YURCHEY

UNICUS IS NOT AFFILIATED WITH ANY RELIGIOUS, PHILOSOPHICAL OR POLITICAL ORGANIZATION.

Manufactured and Printed in the United States of America

UNICUS Magazine (ISSN 1062-5461) is published quarterly by UNICUS, 1147 Manhattan Ave. Suite 43, Manhattan Beach, CA 90266. TEL & FAX: (310)318-6567 Copyright © 1995 by UNICUS. All rights reserved. Nothing may be reproduced in whole or in part without written permission from the publisher. UNICUS is on sale in the United States and Canada at selected newsstands for $4.95 U.S. ($6.95 Int'l) per issue. UNICUS is intended to serve as an open forum for the expression of thoughts, ideas and opinions. Opinions expressed in letters and articles are not necessarily those of the publisher or staff of UNICUS. Writers of each article take sole responsibility for their content. The publisher disclaims all responsibility to return unsolicited matter, and all rights in portions thereof remain the sole property of UNICUS. The publisher takes no responsibility for products or services advertised.

UFO CENTRAL

H O M E V I D E O

Join us as we explore the unknown:

- Monuments On Mars And The Mars Moon Connection
- Flying Saucer Technology
- NASA and UFO's
- Crop Circles
- Hyperdimensional Physics
- New World Order

UFO CENTRAL has searched the Globe to bring you every video documentary on UFO and related sciences available anywhere in the world.

With over 200 produced video presentations on UFO and related sciences.

UFO CENTRAL...

Your true one stop source for news and information.

To receive a catalog of available titles call 800 350-4639.